

CALEB GILLELAND

Email: csgilleland@live.com

Location: London, UK

Academia.edu: <https://edinburgh.academia.edu/CalebGilleland>

---

EDUCATION

PhD in Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations

University of Edinburgh, School of Divinity (New College) | 2021–2026

Thesis: Apostle of Reconciliation: The New Perspectives on Paul and Implications for Bahá'í, Muslim, and Christian Theologies of the Other

Supervisor: Dr. Joshua Ralston

MA in Religion and Theology

King's College London | 2019–2020

Dissertation: Revolution and the Cross: Analyzing N.T. Wright's View of the Atonement

Supervisor: Prof. Edward Adams

MA in Marketing (Outside field)

Georgia State University | 2011

BA in International Affairs

University of Georgia | 2005–2007

---

RESEARCH INTERESTS

My research centers on Pauline theology in comparative and interfaith contexts, particularly at the intersection of Christianity, Islam, and the Bahá'í Faith. I draw on narrative theology and the narrative-historical method to explore how Paul's theology of reconciliation can be reinterpreted across Abrahamic traditions. My work engages the Bahá'í concept of progressive revelation to develop a comparative account of sin, law, and atonement.

---

PUBLICATIONS

Works in Progress

- Towards a Bahá'í Theology of Religions: Integrating Diversity in Comparative Theology

Currently under review by interfaith journal.

- When Worlds End: Apocalyptic Visions of Peace in Christian, Islamic, and Bahá'í Thought

Conference paper in development for presentation (September 2025); article intended for post-conference submission.

- Reimagining Atonement through Progressive Revelation: A Bahá'í Engagement with Christian and Muslim Soteriology

Planned article exploring theologies of sin, sacrifice, and submission across the Abrahamic traditions.

Book Reviews

- Review of Millennialism, Millerites, and Prophecy in Bahá'í Discourse by William Collins.

Journal of Bahá'í Studies (forthcoming, 2026).

Other Publications

- “A Love Letter to Evangelicals from a Bahá'í,” in Sitting in the Shade of Another Tree: What We Learn by Listening to Other Faiths, ed. Keith Giles and Matthew J. DiStefano (Quoir Publishing, 2023), 87–104.
-

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

- “Paul within Islam: Roadblocks and New Possibilities in Muslim and Bahá’í Dialogue with Christianity.”

LERU Theology and Religious Studies Conference, Lund University, Sweden, June 2022.

- “Paul within Islam: Roadblocks and New Possibilities in Muslim and Bahá’í Dialogue with Christianity.”

Centre for Muslim and Christian Studies (CMCS), Oxford, UK, Summer 2023.

- “Apostle of Reconciliation: The New Perspectives on Paul and Implications for Bahá’í, Muslim, and Christian Theologies of the Other.”

Association for Bahá’í Studies – North America, Atlanta, USA, August 2024.

- “Apostle of Reconciliation: The New Perspectives on Paul and Implications for Bahá’í, Muslim, and Christian Theologies of the Other.”

Association for Bahá’í Studies – UK, Bicester, UK, November 2024.

- “Apostle of Reconciliation: The New Perspectives on Paul and Implications for Bahá’í, Muslim, and Christian Theologies of the Other.”

Shaykhi, Bábí, and Bahá’í Studies Seminar, Wolfson College, University of Oxford, May 2025. (Invited)

- “A Bahá’í Approach to Comparative Theology: Reframing the Other in Light of Progressive Revelation.”

Association for Bahá’í Studies – North America, Calgary, Canada, July 2025.

- “When Worlds End: Apocalyptic Visions of Peace in Christian, Islamic, and Bahá’í Thought.”

Association for Bahá’í Studies – UK, Edinburgh, UK, September 2025. (Invited)

---

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Tutor – Jews and Muslims

School of Divinity, University of Edinburgh | Autumn 2022

- Led two tutorial sections (approx. 40 students total), each meeting twice weekly, in support of the undergraduate/graduate course on Jewish and Islamic traditions.
- Facilitated in-depth discussion, clarified lecture material, and engaged students with supplementary thematic content.
- Received consistently positive feedback from students.

Instructor – Paul & the New Testament Epistles

Corinne True Center for Bahá'í History | Spring 2025

- Invited to teach modules within an online course designed for Bahá'í learners and academic audiences.
- Course eligible for graduate-level credit through affiliated institutions (e.g., Graduate Theological Union).
- Focused on Pauline theology and its relevance within Bahá'í interfaith engagement.

---

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

- Interfaith Volunteer Recognition Award, Edinburgh Interfaith Association (2024)

Awarded for sustained community engagement and volunteer service in interreligious dialogue and education across Edinburgh.

---

ACADEMIC SERVICE

- Peer Reviewer, Journal of Bahá'í Studies (2024)

---

LANGUAGES

- English – Native
- German – Strong reading ability (undergraduate minor)
- Russian – Basic reading ability
- Koine Greek – Intermediate reading proficiency (formal study at master's level)
- Arabic – Basic familiarity with script and limited reading ability

---

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

- Member, American Academy of Religion (AAR)
- Member, British Association for Islamic Studies (BRAIS)
- Member, British Association for the Study of Religions (BASR)
- Member, European Academy of Religion (EuARe)

---

REFERENCES

Available upon request.